10 YEARS HENCE

When our War Bonds will begin maturing, we will look back and we will say, "Yes, it was worth it." We will have made the struggle well worth our while, because we will have carried on a real all-out support of the things we loved ten years before.

BUY UNITED STATES WAR BONDS AND STAMPS NOW

Make the above prophecy come true.

"WHERE LAW ENDS, TYRANNY BEGINS" WILLIAM PITT

MONROVIAN

As we are called upon to enter this world, our eyes turn southward. We hope there to find the harmony that is now so lacking on other horizons.

DEDICATION

We, the Senior Class of June 1942, dedicate this issue of the Monrovian to Mrs. Sweet and Mr. Graham. We do so as an expression of our gratitude for the patient assistance and encouragement they have given us, which assured the success of our undertakings.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

Before we turn another page we must extend our thanks and make mention of our appreciation for the help of Mr. Wilhelm who coached the art staff and inspired our artists to produce the splendid work that they did, of Mr. Shapiro who spent so much time taking and retaking the memorable pictures for our memory book, and of Miss Berliner who was so patient with a very impatient literary staff.

FOREWORD

Here is your yearbook, Class of June '42, full of the things you have done, the friends you have made, and the memories that you will never forget. Here between the covers, in pictures, in poetry and in prose are your four years as a Monrovian.

Perhaps you will find a few faces missing, or a few incidents not recorded, but we have tried to make it a true record of your stay here. This book and all the memories it contains are yours, Class of June '42.

DR. HEIN'S MESSAGE

Graduation Time

June 1942

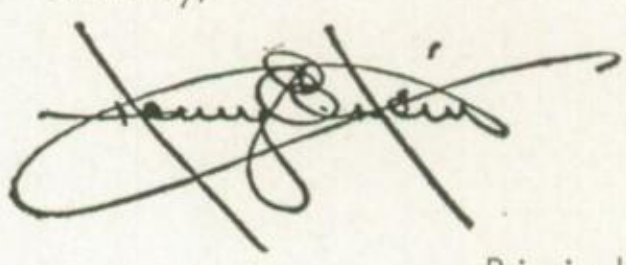
Dear Friends,

What message can I give you during these terrible war times, but a war message? What can I do but exhort you to put your country first and that means putting your neighbor first and that, in turn, means putting everyone but yourself first. Keep your body fit, for your country's sake. Keep your mind schooled, that means disciplined, for your country's sake. Keep your morale, for your country's sake. Prevent waste, for your country's sake. Save in stamps and bonds, for your country's sake.

I like to believe that many of you keep these yearbooks as reminders of your high school days. That is why I have always tried to make these messages carry over for later years, too. That is true now. I call it a war-message and it is—not only for the duration of this cruel strife, but for the duration of your whole life. Democracy will not be saved only by defeating Hitler & Co. Democracy cannot survive unless each one of us learns to defeat his own selfishness that would aggrandize himself at the expense of his neighbors. Fight your country's battles in war and in peace, by keeping fit, informed, disciplined, by being an example of unselfish sacrifice for the good of the community.

May you have a long life in which to enjoy the happiness that comes from loving your neighbor as yourself.

Sincerely,



Principal

EDITORIAL

It is good that the tradition is that seniors should have more fun in school than they have ever had before, indulging in more entertainment, adopting foolish privileges for themselves and so on. It is good because being graduated is such a sad thing and it is good to forget sad things.

Graduation is sad because it is an ending. It is the ending of a beautiful, exciting, naively blind period in one's life. Some say that the seventh term is the best because it is then that the student has gained the prestige that three years of high school experience can bring; yet, he can still look forward to new experiences, new goals to strive for. But the eighth term is the end. There is no looking forward. The graduate remains standing with his hands hanging at his sides.

To be graduated is to be demoted. Graduation is one of the climaxes of life, and everyone knows that after a climax comes a sharp descent, after which the climb must recommence. The graduate becomes a freshman. Whether it be in college or in industry, he is only a beginner.

The graduate can no longer keep up the friendships he made in school by merely making such vague appointments as, "I'll see you in school." Those friendships can no longer be kept by mere nods or hand-waves passed along as students walk through the corridors between periods. Out of school, the word "friend" takes on a new meaning. Acquaintanceships must be kept up with formal appointments, formal correspondence. That is why the graduate is sad. He knows that he may never again see so many hundreds of those familiar faces.

It is good that the senior term is one of revelry.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Dear Fellow Graduates:

Four years have elapsed since we first crossed the threshold of James Monroe. In the minds of many of us it has been all too brief a time. For we are about to enter a grim world, and all the happy hours we spent at Monroe are remembered with longing. We know that graduation means the termination of high school's joys and the entrance into a life of sacrifice and economic struggle.

Some of us will depart to institutions of higher education; others will become wage earners in a particular business or trade. Others will join our armed forces to fight the tyrannical enemies threatening our precious Democracy. Many of us will venture into this war-stricken world and find that life is even harder than we think. Some will find it easier. But with the proper degree of ingenuity and initiative we should all be successful in whatever branch of endeavor we may choose.

The Senior Class of June 1942 has gained a reputation which, it can be proud to know, is outstanding in the history of our school. Though it found itself in the most perilous times, the Senior Class remained high in spirit, and its faith, morale, and hope have set a fine example for others to follow.

The high office that you have bestowed upon me was a great honor, and I enjoyed every minute of service that I was able to render. I am sure that the other Senior Class officers, with me, have the same thought to express.

Whatever your future is, may good luck, health, and happiness come in abundance with every undertaking.

Your friend and president,

George Schechtman

ALMA MATER

Beyond the City's noise and clamor,
Serene beneath the heaven's gold,
Clear in the radiant morning sunlight,
Our Alma Mater we behold.
To us, its loyal sons and daughters,
A glorious task it now shall be
To write in blazing crimson letters
Monroe's fair history.

BOYS'

I wonder how many of you remember a football game about three and a half years ago. What game? You remember, your first athletic contest as a Monrovian. I'll never forget it.

The opening play of the opening game of the opening of our high school days! We returned that opening kick-off for a touchdown. The game, however, ended in a tie, Roosevelt 7, Monroe 7. We lost four games after this one, going into the annual game against an undefeated Clinton team, very much of an underdog.

That same year, 1938, the soccer team lost to Stuyvesant in the Bronx-Manhattan play-off. The basketball team finished a few notches out of first place, and the baseball team could do no better than the rest of the boys.

Things began to pick up for the class of June '42 when we were sophs. There was a little improvement in football. We lost every other game. We beat Roosevelt and Commerce, lost to Seward, Evander and Tilden. The soccer team came through though, with the first of what should have been three city championships as Monrovians (a record for any class), the Saltamen winning their seventh title with comparative ease. The basketball team finished a close third, Roosevelt scoring two points with about thirty seconds left to play in the last game of the year. The baseball team almost made it a double in city championship teams when it worked its way into the finals. It lost there to a hard-hitting Abraham Lincoln aggregation.

We really went to town as juniors. After seeing the football team in action, Monroe buttons were taken out of the dust and really shined up. "Doc" Weidman's boys, after dropping the first game to a great Flushing outfit (undefeated that year), slaughtered a high and mighty Evander juggernaut (7-6), then beat Seward, Roosevelt, Commerce and Stuyvesant, finishing the remainder of the campaign undefeated.

The Crimson booters kicked their way into the finals, only to find themselves robbed of the crown. Because of the charges of semi-pro ball players (they played on Sundays) on most of the teams of the P.S.A.L., the finals were called off, thus sparing the pride and dignity of a few Manual boys.

Enough of this "small fry"! Now we've reached our senior year. The pigskin warriors picked up where they had left off before. They had a five game winning streak behind them, and they tore up the gridiron preserving it. We beat Flushing in the opener to make it 6. Seward generously made it 7. Not to be outdone by last year's rout of Evander, we did it again, this time 2-0. Clinton made it 9 straight after a tight struggle. But old man hard luck was on our heels once again. A "broken-down, under-nourished" Stuyvesant eleven beat us on a lucky pass which ended our winning streak and undid our undefeated season.

Their eighth city title was tacked up by the hard-hitting students of "Saltalogy." This time we had to share the laurels with Lafayette, after a scoreless deadlock in the final round, which was played in sub-freezing weather. There are a few June '42 boys sporting that city-champ sweater. Next fall the "old master" will have to get along without Boris Becker, Georgie Schechtman, Mort Katz, Martin Zieg, Sam Greenbaum and manager Irwin Lessy. The class of '43 doesn't have to worry though; I guarantee them a good team as long as J. S. is still coaching.

Now for the climax, and a fitting one, too. The '41-'42 basketball team, and, in my opinion, one of the greatest, if not the greatest team put out by the Crimson and Gold. The Eagles stormed all over the opposition this season, and I mean stormed. The highest scoring high school team in the City of New York, undefeated in every P.S.A.L. game, they slaughtered eight other quintets just for the fun of it. Benjamin Franklin High School, city rulers four times in the last five years, winner of eighty-one of their last eight-four games, had the bad luck to run into the flying eagles in the quarter-final round at Madison Square Garden. Monroe went home with forty-three out of the seventy-nine points scored in the game. One week after this encounter, a scrappy Erasmus team (which we beat by some thirty points in a scrimmage) caught us on an off-day and eked out a three point victory.

We don't know how he's going to do it, but next year Coach Dickstein will be minus the services of three varsity men and the guiding light of the team. Little Lionel Malamed, Big Marv Haspil and Syd Lew are the starting men getting their diplomas. Seymour Dinkin, the manager, completes this four-star combination, It's going to be hard to replace Malamed, Haspil and Lew, but I doubt if any substitute for Dinkin will be found.

The baseball team has six seniors on its roster, the captain, Hi Prosk; Syd Lew, of basketball fame, and Sig Seltzer (who does a little running on the side). Finklestein and Birdy complete the list.

The natators are going out en masse. Frey, Pedolsky, Kiernan, Lipshitz, Galanter, Weinberger, Vesquez and Manager Herbie Cohen are all floating out.

The new co-ed cheering squad is losing five of its seven male members. Occie Friedensohn, Jerry Rothenberg, Johnny Burguillos, Sol Schaller and Mannie Rothenberg are bidding the school adieu.

The track team, under Mr. Goldsmith, is losing three of its few and far between point getters. The boys are Arnold Turkus, Bert Goldstein and Nathan Moore.

"M. Axe" Taub did it again. If Mr. Salta doesn't watch out our "Sunbeam" is going to take over his reputation. Sparked by Isadore "Soaky" Kuntz, our own Senior basketball team was tops again.

After seeing "Sunbeam" Taub in the faculty game you may wonder how he ever became a basketball coach. I'm wondering also. The boys that are working for the good name of Taub this time are the aforementioned Isadore Kuntz, Pipeo, Haber, Hillman, Stumacher, Zwerling, Ratner, Kornblatt, Frankel, Schwartz, Klein and Dave Nulman.

This class of June '42 is really going out in a blaze of glory. We're taking the cream of the athletic crop with us. It is selfish but we can't help or alter the fact that this is the best class out of Monroe in the last seventeen years, can we?

GIRLS'

And now the time has come for a summary of girls' sports. Somehow the word "sports" does not really describe what is to follow. Therefore, we will call it Athletic Activities of Monroviennes.

June '42, a class of young women of the future America—young women prepared to meet all that the future may hold, women with bodies and minds conditioned by exercise, dance, and sports! The day of the delicate flower has passed. The young, slim, supple body is the ideal one.

Physical training is playing a large part in the lives of American girls. The physical training programs are fuller and are given with a set purpose and aim. For example, there are exercises to slim hips, reduce waistlines, correct posture, and perfect muscle co-ordination. Various sports further the work started by pure and simple exercise. Games are taught, for they supply excellent means of muscle and mind co-ordination growth, as well as providing amusement.

Then there is the dance for grace and posture, dances from the west, a square dance, from Mexico, the Chiapenecaes, from the dance halls and centers of the United States—fox trot, lindy, rhumba, and tap dance.

The Senior Class of June '42 continued the struggle for girl cheerleaders and we helped bring forth the plan by which the squad works. The girl cheerleaders are a group of Monroe's finest girls—girls with good scholarship, leaders in sports, and possessors of pleasing personalities.

Another subject taught by the P.T. department deserves mention here, namely, hygiene. The hygiene instructors have tried to polish off the product started by the P.T. instructors by teaching us how to care for our bodies, dress correctly, use make-up to advantage. They gave us a picture of the impressions we make on other people.

Next, I believe, we should be grateful for the elementary training we have received in First Aid. Many a physician would wisely suggest to us that we never give any treatment because of our lack of skill. Nevertheless, situations can arise in which a person with even a smattering of first aid knowledge may really help an unfortunate victim.

But once again we go back to the Girls' Athletic Association. Monroe has one of the best assortments of girls' athletic clubs of any school and the number of girls who go out for these clubs is encouraging. Monroe's 200 club is the club for girl leaders of sports; leaders and members of the basketball, tennis, volleyball, baseball, and swimming clubs provided by the G.A.A.

Tennis, a popular sport with all, offers two divisions for those interested, learners and advanced players. Correct form and all the technicalities of the game are covered, and an opportunity is afforded for practical application. The Monrovienne who has been a faithful member of the Tennis Club is able to go out on a court and play a fairly good game.

The Swimming Club boasts of many fine swimmers, champions, and enthusiasts, girls who are, many of them, called upon to act as assistants to the swimming instructor during the regular swimming periods.

Then there is the basketball club, where America's favorite sport is taught to girls. Although it's true the girls' basketball game and guiding rules are different from the game our male friends play, nevertheless, the skill acquired is sufficient to enable one to stand and watch intelligently a star college basketball game. (And what boy friend doesn't appreciate that?)

Boys frequently laugh at a girl's effort to play in the various sports. There was a time when, if a girl could play any game particularly well, she would be dubbed "tomboy." But with the further understanding of the necessity for young America to be physically fit, there has been a great change in the male outlook on the female in athletics.

TEACHERS'

Oswald felt awful. Things just weren't going right since he had been graduated from high school two hours ago. Ma was in the kitchen, singing away. Pa would be home any minute now, rubbing his hands in a manner that intimated, "Mm, smells good. What's cookin'?" Even little Joe was unconcerned. Worst of all, Sally, his girl-friend, had left for the country that morning, missing the opportunity of seeing him in his cap and gown.

"Aw nerts," said Oswald, sprawling over the armchair.

"Nerts yourself," answered a saucy little voice that came from nowhere in particular. Oswald jumped. He shook his head to drive out the sight that was before him, but in vain. A little boy was standing on the arm of the chair, his nose perked sky-high, his hands tucked safely away in the pockets of his velvet shorts. A big polka-dot bow hid most of the little face. This stranger from nowhere was as tiny as Oswald's big toe.

"S-say w-who are you?" exclaimed Oswald in a voice that fluctuated from bass to soprano. The little boy pulled the large bow-tie away from his face, showing . . .

"Mr. Rosenblatt!" exclaimed the befuddled Oswald.

"Well, you needn't shout," came the perky answer.

"B-but . . . aw chee, I'm dreaming."

"Says you," laughed a voice near Oswald's feet.

"Lilly, get off that football," scolded Phil Rosenblatt.

"Miss Gawron!" cried Oswald. "Lemme outa here. I'm going batty awfully fast."

"Oh no you don't," warned a tough little voice. "I'll hold 'im, Phil." Miss Strode tugged at Oswald's shirt. 'Tomboy' Strode they used to call her. She was as sharp as a safety pin, and held as fast to the shaking Oswald.

"I'll help you," offered tiny May Amend. A big bow was fastened to her curly hair and bobbed up and down as the frightened Oswald tried to get away.

"Aw, why don't you quiet down and start to believe what you see," advised Arty Merovick as he strutted up to the footstool. Oswald counted ten. Then he sputtered, "I knew teachers weren't human." Someone gave him a crack on the jaw. It was Mr. Weidman.

"I'll learn yuh not to talk about the teachers that way," said the infuriated Joe. Maxie Taub hopped belligerently up to "dirty face" Weidman.

"Say, why don't yuh pick on someone yer own size?" he shouted. For a moment the two boys stared at each other. Then with a whoop, the fight began in the middle of Oswald's carpet. Little Maxie jabbed with his left, then his right, then with his left, then with his right (say this can go on forever), then with his left again. Joe was up, he was down again, then he was up . . . and all the while Maurice Miller stood on the sidelines crying, "I want my momma." Big, rolling tears poured out of his large, innocent eyes. It was chubby Sophie Holz who comforted him by asking "Wuzza-matta-baby?" Maurice just cried louder, "I want my momma." It was no use. But Elizabeth Scanlon wheeled a carriage onto the carpet with an air of, "You see, this baby doesn't cry."

HOLIDAY

"Who you got there?" asked little Miss Lichtenstein. She pulled back the hood of the carriage and a little roundfaced baby with a thick head of curls, peeked out gurgling, "Cookie, cookie?"

"That's his name," explained little Elizabeth Scanlon. "Cookie Graham."

Back in the center of the carpet the fight was coming to a disastrous close. Maxie Taub was on top of Joe Wiedman, pounding away to beat the band.

"Say Uncle, say Uncle," yelled Maxie. Joe gave up the fight, but not without uttering these memorable words:

"Mark my words, Maxie. Twenty years from now I'll get even. Just wait." (Ed. Note . . . well, we're still waiting) Leo Taub was waving a flag on the sidelines. He had that unforgettable impish smile on his face.

Suddenly he cried, "I'm hungry. Why am I always hungry?"

"To eat or not to eat, that is digestion," commented Alby Lubell whose hair was the color of a ripe and mellow orange.

"Well you don't eat unless you taste my strudel," said Sophie Holz. Gerry Saltzberg smiled mischievously.

"Who will carry the strudel in?" she asked.

"I will, I will," offered Matty Chambers.

"Oh, no you don't," laughed Sophie. "The last time you carried the strudel in, we saw only an empty platter."

"I'll carry it in," said Bob Phillips.

"No, I will," piped Ruthie Storm's voice. Suddenly everyone was yelling for the strudel. Someone pinched Oswald's ear. Another one made a dive for the platter as it circled above everyone's head. The smell of strudel was everywhere in the air. Suddenly Oswald was very, very hungry. And the yelling persisted.

"Let Oswald carry it," suggested someone. Everyone piled on Oswald throwing him off balance and knocking him on the floor.

"Oswald," screamed someone. "Oswald, you're on my toe." "Ouch!" "Umph!" Everyone was running away. Poor Oswald was in a daze. When he came to, there was Papa walking up and down the room muttering, "I'm hungry. Why am I always hungry?"

"Say pop," asked Oswald, "was I asleep?"

"Don't you know? I was talking to you just now."

"You mean my eyes were open?" Oswald was surprised.

"Well, you answered me."

"What did you ask me?"

"To carry the strudel in." Oswald rubbed his head. Where had all those children disappeared to? Why had they come to bother him? Were they really real?

Say, whose idea was this anyway?

Now when we look backward, the years roll by and we see us, you and me, first entering high school together. But that new life really started when we worried our parents, friends and teachers in a whirl of indecision as to which school to go to. You and I chose James Monroe.

When we first came to Monroe, it was glorious June, just as it is now when we are leaving. We remember how high we held our head. The sun shone, the hedges bloomed, and the stars and stripes flew proudly from the building's roof. Inside, the halls were cool and old with the many footsteps that had come and gone. Some of us were assigned to the annexes and a few were told to report to the "Main." Came September, we did.

After that came a period of readjustment, getting lost searching for the gym, being afraid of that big husky monitor, and thinking the auditorium as big as Loew's State. Grand old auditorium! What spectacles we've seen there.

Pan-American Day, that never ending joy, with the rhumba and conga, boys and girls of the Pan-American Club dancing "a la Argentine way," with Doctor Hein, a foremost exponent of Pan-Americanism and our beloved principal, grinning on the stage, giving us the sort of talk one remembers!

And the day Doctor Clinchy came and brought down the house with a stirring talk on tolerance, Monroe came through 100 per cent. We gave him the Monroe Good Will Award—and with it our hearts and our spirits.

Then there was Christmas. The auditorium was dark and cool and expectant silence enveloped it. Quite suddenly the curtain rolled back and there was the Glee Club singing "Silent Night." There was the most beautiful Christmas tree, bright with tinsel and stars and gold on the stage. The band and one's feelings rose with the singing.

When we were a little older, and some had conquered geometry, others steno, and others nothing—came Gold Letter Day when our fellow classmates got up and did their darndest to give us a rousing good show, while all-day suckers and crepe paper bows were the order of the day. And lots of us cheered even the jokes that were sour. Those were our buddies up there on the stage.

Naturally one always remembers the Junior Prom. It was reasonable enough for all to be able to go and you brought your best boy-friend and traded compliments with the girls in your classes—"Janet, that hair-do is simply divine," and "Myrtle darling, that boy-friend of yours is charming."

We never thought that war would come so soon—December 7, 1941—Pearl Harbor—the battleships in flames—the shock.

Now the school was grimmer. We saved papers and rags and had practice air raid drills regularly—waiting, waiting, ever on guard. The war was always in our minds. Some of the men teachers we thought so "cute" went away with the brave and the true. Others were soon leaving.

With so many students gone away to new high schools that opened in our time, we became the last thousand-numbered graduating class. It was good to be so big a group, we who had laughed and cried and studied our way through high school. The Senior Prom was our triumphant, exultant farewell to each other—as our graduation was our solemn goodbye to the school. So it is fitting that in an aura of love, of joyous memories, we listen to the echoes (Cheer the team to victory . . . the week after Regents Week . . . the Easter vacation and the Proms—), as we leave forever the golden days of childhood.

To everyone who has at any time haunted his teacher dying to know sooner his fatal Regents mark, to everyone who has loved our basketball team, to everyone who has loved Monroe—to the youth which now enters maturity, we leave these memories.

PRIORITIES

We, the Senior Class of June '42, because of existing conditions such as priorities, in an unselfish effort to be of aid in the national emergency, agree to the following:

1—In the interests of National Defense we shall limit our homework to beautiful and fruitful thoughts; therefore, we shall consume no paper. We shall also be very easy on our textbooks, being careful not to use them too much or bring them to school too often.

2—We also realize that a great deal of rubber is used by teachers driving to school; therefore, we agree to allow teachers to stay at home at least four days a week.

3—We hereby agree to save our own rubber heels by using the elevator more and the stairs less.

4—We hereby offer Mr. Golden to the government as an outright gift. He will show the nation how to eat the least possible and still remain alive.

5—To Mr. Morgenthau, we offer "Doc" Weidman, Internal, external and every kind of revenue you've got, Collector de-luxe.

6—At a great sacrifice to ourselves, after due consideration, we agree to give up spit-balls during periods 1, 3, and 5 on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. (I hope we are not being too hasty.)

7—To the Navy we offer the swimming pool to be used as a naval base. We promise not to go near the place again.

8—Mathematics being so important in the defense of our country, we offer our share to the government. (We'll miss it something awful, but they need it more than we do.)

9—Because of the shortage of sugar, we offer our sweet co-eds as substitutes.

10—We will painfully give up our Regents exams so that our Beloved Board of Regents may join General MacArthur and fight the Japs. They've been fighting with us long enough.

BLUEPRINT

Cut in half from top to toe,
Let's see what's happening in Monroe.

Fifth Floor

Lunchroom

A dash, a scramble,
to get a seat,
A push, a shove,
for a bite to eat.
Food is good,
but not much there.
Getting it quickly—
pretty rare.

Laboratory

Above the din
there is a sound,
The explosion of a strange compound.
Aspiring scientists
putter there
Amid the tubes and chemical ware.

G.O. Office

Reluctant nickels
and dimes appear
In the G. O. office, stationed here.

Fourth Floor

Senior Office

A friendly man
seated there,
Ruler of the Seniors' lair.
Senior hats,
Arista news,
Senior pictures,
Senior dues.

Third Floor

Service Office

Here we find servants of the school.
"Service above self"
is their rule.

Gym

In the torture chamber,
for our courses,
We get exercises
and Charlie horses.

Secretarial Office

Click, click of typewriters
like a melody,
Sounds like an ode
to a secretary.

Second Floor

Mirror Office

The heart of all gossip,
the place of wide renown,
Monroe Mirror writers
attempt to taint the town.

First Floor

General Office

Residing there are officers great,
To solve your problems
and plan your fate.

Auditorium

The place is big,
and it is here
That our budding
Lunts and Fontaines appear.
There's orchestra for symphony and swing band for the blues
Assemblies are the periods
we would always choose.

Swimming Pool

The natatorium
works a change
That really is a sight.
Going in
You look O. K.,
coming out
A fright.

PILGRIM'S PROGRESS

I

When I was a wee little freshman lad,
I gave to the G. O. all I had.
I made my homework extra-neat
Through thick and thin and cold and heat.
I came to school at twenty to eight
(An hour ahead so I wouldn't be late).
I ran to the gym, I dashed to the pool—
Oh, how I loved this part of school.
The lunchroom was heaven, the food was fine,
I felt that I went there "to dine."

II

As I became a sophomore bloke,
The G. O. rep found me ever broke.
I did my homework now and then.
My Delaney card never saw a ten.
I arrived at school to hear the bell
Say, "Come on, brother, run like ——."
I walked to the gym, I strolled to the pool;
I was old enough to be no one's fool.
I sped to the lunchroom for my hash and rice,
For I had to get there "before the mice."

III

When I was a half-pint junior novice,
I was quite familiar in the principal's office.
Homework was given, but none was done.
I was much too busy having fun.
I reached the school . . . not a minute to spare;
I was a junior, I didn't care.
They dragged me to the gym, they tugged me to the "tank";
I was much too late with my dental blank.
I ran to the lunchroom, not to eat,
But just to hog somebody's seat.

IV

Now, I was a senior with senior blues.
I hadn't a cent for senior dues.
My excuse for the G. O. was pretty pat;
"I used the half-buck for my senior hat."
Homework, son, didn't interest me.
My first quarter average was forty-three.
I arrived at school two periods late,
For the night before I'd a big-time date.
I cut my swimming, I skipped P. T.
I was caught once only, but woe was me.
I ambled to the lunchroom, got first on line.
I was a senior and the world was mine.

FAREWELL

Alumnus of Monroe, fellow classmate, you are now turning the last pages of this book. It is our solemn hope that long after this moment, the years will roll back like the pages, and you will live again with the people once so dear, those once so respected, even those once disliked. May your thoughts then be colored with the understanding of time, and may you remember with pride and joy the four years we shared here at Monroe. Hail and Farewell.

FOR JUNE 1947

Dear Graduate:

Five years from now, perhaps you will once again open this book while sitting in your home. Many memories will once again become vivid pictures of the days you spent in the corridors of Monroe. Perhaps, also, at that time you will have graduated from college or will be permanently established in the business world. Whatever you may be doing at that time, you may be assured that James Monroe High School will still be interested in you. We are interested because one of our main principles at Monroe is finding out which procedures followed here at school aided or hindered you in whatever you are doing today. We want to make our teaching worthwhile and effective enough so that future graduates may be prepared to face a changing world. For this reason, we are anxious to hear from you—so won't you, some time shortly after June 1947, answer the questions and return them to the principal?

A. What are you doing now?

B. Is it the type of work for which you were preparing yourself while in our high school?

C. Tell us in detail how the work done by our school aided you in your present duties.

D. If our school was of no assistance to you in the work you are doing now, either in business or professional work, tell us honestly, and in detail, just in which respects you think we could improve our work as teachers, so that future graduates may benefit by your suggestions.

E. In what ways do you feel we succeeded, or failed, in helping you to adapt yourself in your school relationships since you left our school?

F. In what ways did we succeed or fail in helping you to become a worthy citizen of the community in which you live or spend your time? In what civic movements have you cooperated or are you engaged now? What improvements would you suggest in the preparation given here?

G. Do you see or meet with any of your fellow graduates? What is their opinion of the work we have done as teachers?

H. Will you ask these fellow graduates to get in touch with the school and tell us something about themselves?

Your Teachers

S. Hekkem
